*I have personally spoken with each of these firms however it is up to you as a client to ascertain if the lawyer or firm meets your needs, especially in relation to costs and their level of experience in land acquisition matters. All these firms offer an initial 30-minute meeting for free, and you should ask about costs and how they operate at that time.

Important note: While the government will reimburse 'reasonable' legal fees, they may not cover the entire cost.

You may not be reimbursed until the matter is complete, despite accruing monthly bills from your lawyer. You need to discuss how you manage this with your lawyer.
